Looking for Special Topic Award Sponsors

NHDNH is looking for historical societies and organizations to sponsor special topic awards at states. Special Topic Awards are such amazing opportunities to recognize student achievement, outside of first, second, and third place. Awards can be certificates, scholarships, or something else. If an organization is interested in sponsoring an award, the organization should establish generic project requirements and any criteria for the student and contact the NHDNH staff.

School Competitions

It's that time of year to be thinking about possible school competitions. Having a competition or history fair at your school is a great way to prepare students for States and empower them to be proud of their work! Students who compete in school competitions before States tend to do well at States. They get feedback from someone other than their teacher. They get practice presenting their project and explaining their process. Email us if you need judges!

Process Papers

Here's an idea! Process Papers are not always intuitive and are often an after thought. Consider having your students keep a journal about their research findings. If you need to know more about Process Papers or Annotated Bibliographies, click on our link below!

Theme Workshop

Teachers met in early November to discuss the 2013 Theme

At this meeting we dissected the theme, brainstormed topic ideas, and collaborated with other NHD participating schools. The workshop resulted in a few new pages of information added to our website so check it out!

Thank you for your continued support!
